

Society and the State

Published on Mar 30, 2019

SUBSCRIBE 118

Link: https://www.youtube.com/watch?time_continue=238&v=0pdiBXcYG6Y

The issue of digital privacy is one that should be on the minds of every person who uses a smart phone. Recently the state of Utah became the first state in the U.S. to require law enforcement to get a warrant before accessing anyone's data on a third party's server. Marina Lowe from the ACLU of Utah joins Connor to discuss what this law does and why it was a needed protection of our Fourth Amendment rights.

The image is a YouTube video thumbnail with a blue background. At the top, the title "SOCIETY and the STATE" is displayed in white and red text. Below the title are two video stills. The left still shows two men, Connor Boyack and Bryan Hyde, standing in front of a sign that reads "LIBERTY INSTITUTE". The right still shows Marina Lowe speaking at a podium, with a "HALIDONMUSIC" watermark above her. Below the stills, the text "LIFE, LIBERTY, AND YOUR PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS" is written in white. Captions for the individuals are located at the bottom of their respective stills.

SOCIETY and the STATE

Connor Boyack and Bryan Hyde
Co-hosts

HALIDONMUSIC

Marina Lowe
Legislative Counsel, ACLU Utah

LIFE, LIBERTY, AND YOUR PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS