

The Deadliest Year

Officer-involved shootings increased three-fold in Utah in 2018, but why?

Why did so many Utahns die in police shootings last year?" is the vital question we ask on the cover of the Spring 2019 Liberty Reporter—the ACLU of Utah's biannual newsmagazine for members and supporters.

Nineteen people died in OICIs (officer-involved critical incidents) in 2018--a three-fold increase from the year before. After examining these incidents, and speaking to both law enforcement and activists against police brutality, we call for a broader, multi-party effort to identify and fix the police tactics and policies that accelerate confrontations to a fatal result.
