

Protesters rally at Washington County Attorney's office over COVID-19 outbreak at jail

67 PHOTOS

July 11, 2020

St. George Spectrum

<https://www.thespectrum.com/picture-gallery/news/2020/07/11/community-members-gather-better-purgatory-covid-response/5419446002/>

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.
CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS

Buy Photo

Email

Twitter

Facebook

Share

Washington County residents gather at the office of County Attorney Eric Clarke to encourage better COVID-19 measures for inmates at Purgatory Correctional Facility Friday, July 10, 2020.

CHRIS CALDWELL / THE SPECTRUM & DAILY NEWS